

Associate Bio

Tracy Taylor

For the last 15 years, I have been in an internal consultancy-type role where I enjoyed building a working relationship with senior leaders to understand what was required from their people in order to drive the performance of their business. These conversations would enable me to identify present gaps and future needs, to design a solution.

Delivery varied from me, to co-delivering with business leaders to help effect change. The focus was always on people, results and ensuring the change was embedded. This helped to inspire action and win the trust of senior leaders.

Testimonials

“Tracy lives this stuff! She understands it and breaks it down making her training easy to digest and simple to take back the key points that are important to actually implement. I couldn’t recommend highly enough!”

“I have been benefiting from weekly training from Tracy. I cannot choose between the different topics as they have all been excellent. Her advice has great depth with clear, concise and well informed delivery. I feel more able to manage and get the best from myself and those I work with.”
